

Sergei Metelev, Mirosław M. Murat & Vladimir Lizunov

Economic Security Policy of the Russian Federation

LIBERTAS - Europäisches Institut GmbH, Rangendingen (Germany), May 2016, 74 p.; ISBN 978-3-946119-84-5 (Print Edition), 15,00 EUR; ISBN 978-3-946119-81-4 (PDF), 4,99 EUR; ISBN 978-3-946119-82-1 (epub), 4,99 EUR; ISBN 978-3-946119-83-8 (MobiPocket), 4,99 EUR.

Orders via all bookshops or verlag@libertas-institut.com. Internet: www.libertas-institut.eu (Shop). eBook also available in all ebook shops.

The Book

The book is devoted to the theoretical and methodological fundamentals and practical issues of economic security in Russia and its regions.

The authors review threats and measures to ensure economic security, deliver analysis technique for revealing propensity for corruption in the regulations and management decisions. They examine the strategy of economic security of Russia, some indicators that characterize the economic security of the state, the conception of regional economic security as a component of Russia’s economic security, external and internal threats to the economic security of the region and economic security as a comprehensive evaluation of socio-economic development of the region. Particular attention is paid to identification of the ways ensuring the economic security of Russia at the federal and regional levels. The book is helpful for all interested in the field of national, economic and other types of security, state-owned and municipal governance, management of corporations and enterprises, economists, sociologists and marketing experts.

Contents

Preface

Introduction

Chapter 1. Theoretical and Methodological Foundations of Economic Security of the Russian Federation

1.1. Economic Security as a Notion of Economics and a Component of National Security

1.2. Threats and Measures of Economic Security Maintenance

1.3. Analysis Technique for Revealing Propensity for Corruption in the Regulations and Management Decisions

Chapter 2. Strategy and Indicators of the Economic Security of the Russian Federation

2.1. The Strategy of Economic Security of Russia

2.2. The Indicators of the National Economic Security

Chapter 3. Regional Economic Security as a Component of Economic Security of Russia

3.1. External and Internal Threats to the Regional Economic Security

3.2. Economic Security as a Comprehensive Evaluation of the Socio-Economic Development of the Omsk Region

Chapter 4. Ways of Ensuring Economic Security of the Russian Federation: Federal and Regional Aspects

4.1. Priority Directions of Ensuring Economic Security of Russia

4.2. The Monitoring of Regional Economic Security

4.3. Problems and Measures for Ensuring the Economic Security of the Omsk Region

Conclusion

References

Supplements

The Authors

Sergei E. Metelev

Sergei E. Metelev is Doctor of economy. Since 2005 he is Director of Omsk institute (branch) of Plekhanov Russian University of Economy. He is also part of the Editorial Advisory Board of EUFAJ since 2011.

Mirosław Marian Murat

Mirosław Marian Murat is Doctor of Philosophy, a participant of scientific conferences concerning issues of social philosophy, education and religion, both in Poland and abroad. Author of numerous articles published in country and abroad including monographs "God, man and history."

Vladimir Vasilyevich Lizunov

Vladimir Vasilyevich Lizunov, graduated from the Tomsk state university. Since 2002 is the associate professor of Omsk Institute (branch) of the Russian Trade and Economic University, the senior research associate of Omsk Economic Laboratory of Institute of Economy and the Organization of Industrial Production of the Siberian branch of the Russian Academy of Sciences. He is Candidate of physical and mathematical sciences, associate professor, corresponding member of Academy of medico-technical science, academic adviser of the Russian engineering academy, full member of the Russian geographical society.